Respond to one of the following questions in a :90 second to two minute video:

1. When we talk about diversity, we mean acceptance, respect, understanding and celebration of the things that make people or groups different from one another.

Given this definition of diversity, take a personal experience on how diversity has affected your life, and write an overview for a television episode that would star you as the main character.

2. Television is changing...now you can watch programs on TV's, computers, telephones; in high-def, streamed clips, etc. ON THE SET'S goal is to continue to change television by recruiting people with different backgrounds, ethnicities and experiences that will generate a broader range of creativity and ideas for programming.

The year is 2025. Tell us what television will be like. Give us an example of how people will watch and what they will be watching.
